

Abstract

Embodiments of the present invention relate to configuration and use of business processes in a business application software in terms of generic control elements that model a wide spectrum of business processes.

5